ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS

Republican Legislature in Oregon Elects a Democrat.

HE WAS PEOPLE'S CHOICE

Benjamin Shively, Democrat, Chosen In Indiana to Succeed Senator Hemenway—Cummins, Republican, Elected In Iowa—Reed Smoot Gets Another Term—Thomas P. Gore, the Blind Senator, Re-Elected In Oklahoma.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 20. — Governor George E. Chamberlain, Democrat, was elected United States senator by a Republican legislature. Although Chamberlain is the people's choice for United States senator and there were enough members of the legislature pledged to elect him, a determined effort was made for months past to defeat him. Senator Charles W. Fulton, whom Chamberlain will succeed, it is alleged, repeatedly urged the legislators to elect a Republican instead of a Democrat, despite the fact that a majority of the members were pledged to the people to vote for Chamberlain. The election of Chamberlain may solve the problem of electing senators by popular vote without infringing upon the constitutional provisions for such elections.

INDIANA ELECTS DEMOCRAT

Shively Chosen Senator From Hoosier State Today.

Indianapolis, Jan. 20.—Obeying the mandate of the joint caucus, the Democratic members of the state senate and house of representatives voted today to elect Benjamin F. Shively senator of the United States from Indiana. As the Democrats have a majority of sixteen on joint ballot of the two houses, Mr. Shively was declared elected. He had a majority of the votes cast yesterday in the house, which is Democratic, but the senate, with a Republican majority of four, indorsed Senator Hemenway's actions in the senate by voting to return him. It was a purely complimentary vote, the joint ballot being the only effective proceeding according to law.

North Carolina to Send Overman Back.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 20.—The general assembly of North Carolina voted separately for United States senator. In the house the vote was: Lee S. Overman, Democrat, 90; Spenver B. Adams, Republican, 26. In the senate: Overman, 36; Adams, 8. The joint session will be held Thursday, and Senator Overman will be re-elected to succeed himself.

Cummins Elected Senator.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 20.—By a vote of 112 to 40, Albert B. Cummins was elected to a six years' term in the United States senate over Claude P. Porter, Democrat. The two houses of the legislature met in joint session today and made formal announcement of the election.

Hopkins' Seat In Danger.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—No candidate for United States senator having received a majority of both houses of the legislature taken on joint ballot in the separate houses, the election of a senator to succeed Senator Albert J. Hopkins will be thrown into a joint session of the two branches. Senator Hopkins, Republican primary choice for the office, received a bare majority in the senate, where 26 votes were cast for him, but his failure to obtain a majority in the lower house, where he fell 16 votes short of the necessary 77, resulted in no choice upon the first ballot.

The Blind Senator Re-Elected.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 20. — United States Senator Thomas P. Gore was re-elected at a joint session of the legislature today by a straight party vote. The Republican minority vote was cast for Dennis T. Flynn.

Stone Re-Elected In Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 20—William J. Stone was re-elected United States senator today. Every Democratic member present in the legislature voted for him, and he had a majority over Lieutenant Governor John C. McKinley, Republican primary nominee.

Charles J. Hughes Elected In Colorado

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—Charles J. Hughes, Jr., Democrat, was elected as United States senator by the Colorado legislature to succeed Henry M. Teller. Mr. Hughes received the full Democratic party vote in both houses.

Another Term For Reed Smoot.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 20. — United States Senator Reed Smoot was re-elected by both houses voting in separate session.

M. N. Johnson Succeeds Hansbrough.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—M. N. Johnson received the vote of the Republicans in both houses of the legislature for United States senator to succeed H. C. Hansbrough.

Gallinger Re-Elected In N. Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 20.—By a strict party vote, Jacob H. Gallinger, Republican, was re-elected United States senator from New Hampshire.

Washington Elects Senator.

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 20.—Wesley L. Jones, was elected to the United States senate.

PICKS BURIAL URN; SHOOTS HIMSELF

Old Mason Jokes and Whistles Before Ending Life.

HINTS AT FAMILY TROUBLES

Thomas Hutchings Was In a Particularly Jovial Mood While Preparing to Kill Himself—Shot Himself In the Head on the Front Steps of a New York Station House.

New York, Jan. 20.—Thomas Hutchings walked into the office of the Stephen Merritt Burial company and asked for Mr. Radcliffe, the manager. He seemed to be in a particularly jovial mood.

"I was on my way uptown," he said, "and I thought I would drop in and make arrangements for my own cremation, as I have thought the matter over carefully and am convinced that cremation is better than burial. In fact, I don't like the thought of going underground," he added, with a hearty laugh.

The two men chatted for some time, and then Mr. Radcliffe showed Hutchings urns for cremation purposes.

"Well, this one will do," said Hutchings, choosing an urn. "Now, after I am dead, I want you to wait until the grass turns green and summer comes, when I want my ashes taken to the country, some pretty place, and scattered on the cool green grass."

"Well, you are not going to die today," said Mr. Radcliffe.

"Oh, no," replied Hutchings, laughing. "I'm in no hurry; tomorrow will do."

He paid $10 on the urn, and he asked if he might write a letter, as it would save him a trip uptown. He wrote a letter, and was whistling while he wrote. As he left the undertaker's he asked for the nearest police station.

At the station house Hutchings asked Lieutenant Tighe, who was on the desk, if he was a Mason. The lieutenant said he was not, but that John Anthony, the doorman, was.

"Well, I'm a Mason and I'm in trouble and I want to talk over my troubles. They are partially family troubles," said Hutchings. Anthony advised him to go to the Masonic Temple, and he left the room.

Hutchings went out on the front steps of the station house, and Daniel Forbes, a fifteen-year-old boy, says he saw Hutchings take a revolver from a pocket in his trousers and shoot himself in the head.

The body was removed from the station house to the burial company, where Mr. Radcliffe took charge of it.

PETER COLLINS.

Famous Contractor Passes Away at His Sister's Home in This Place

Peter Collins one of the members of the well known contracting firm of Collins Brothers and uncle of Thomas A. Shoemaker, of this place, died at the home of his sister, Miss Sarah Collins, on East Curtin street, Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock after an illness of several months. Death was due to a general breaking down incident to old age. He has been unconscious for several days and his death has been momentarily expected.

The deceased who was the son of Peter and Sarah Collins was born in Somerset county in 1830 and had an international reputation as a contractor and builder. He was for some years associated with his brothers, Thomas and Philip Collins in the contracting business and the firm assisted in building sections of the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, the Ebensburg branch in 1860, the Indiana branch, Bald Eagle Valley and from Tyrone to Lock Haven, the Lehigh Valley and several other sections of railroad in the state.

The firm gained an international reputation when with another contracting firm of the United States undertook the building of the line of railroad in Brazil to connect Bolivia by railroad with the great Amazon river to give it an outlet for its mineral and other products. The undertaking was a hazardous one and failed through the destruction of supply ships that were dispatched to them and the failure of capitalists behind the movement to float bonds to finance the movement. At the time the contract was abandoned, Peter Collins and George Gay with their force of engineers and men in making their way from the wilds in which they were working, were attacked by Indians, and Mr. Collins was shot through one of his lungs by an arrow. The wound proved serious and since then he has been unable to do any strenuous work and practically lived a life of retirement in Philadelphia. The old wound is said to be the cause of his last illness.

It was the Collins brothers who built the Collins furnace at this place, now the Bellefonte furnace and also the Bellefonte Central Railroad.

Peter Collins was married to Miss Susan Scholl, who survives him with four daughters, namely, Mrs. Westcott, Mrs. Gallagher, Nancy and Berths, all of Philadelphia. He also leaves one sister, Miss Sarah Collins of this place.

Mr. Collins was a member of the Catholic church, and an upright christian gentleman. His word was as good as his bond and had many friends throughout this state.

Funeral services was held in St. Johns Catholic church at this place Monday morning at 8 o'clock. The remains were taken to Summit, Pa., on the 9:20 train Monday morning where the interment were made.

Republican Office Flooded.

Monday night was the coldest so far this winter the thermometer registered 10 degrees below zero in some parts of town. Plumbers were kept busy and reaped a harvest. Among those to suffer were the Republican office and if the Daily News was not printed well Tuesday please don't blame the printer. The water pipes in the Centre Social Club located over our printing office bursted and as a result both the composing room and press room were flooded with water. The water after it fell froze. There was about two inches of ice on the floors and the presses were covered with a coating of ice, the ice hanging in icicles from the presses. The greater part of the day was spent in cleaning up the presses and oiling them. In addition to this about twenty dollars worth of job stock was ruined.

Eagles Mere Likely to Have Dangerous Rival

Lake Mokoma, a property in Sullivan county in which Williamsport men have been interested at different times, was started on a boom last summer and it is already announced for the next summer season that this resort will be boomed still further and in a manner to make it in some respects a rival to Eagles Mere. When new owners last year started to improve the Mokoma section their work was quite extensively carried on.

It is understood that next season a special effort will be made to bring the place into favor as a picnic ground and excursion point. Mokoma has many natural beauties and the men backing its boom are understood to be confident that it will make a record next summer.

CARMACK CASE IN COURT TODAY

Slayer of Former Senator Faces Judge in Nashville.

LEGAL BATTLE IS AWAITED

Prosecution and Defense Both Command Services of Tennessee's Ablest Lawyers—Carmack's Friends Assisting In Effort to Avenge His Death, While the Three Defendants Have Many Attorneys—Prominent Men of the State Involved In the Tragedy.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 20.—Probably never before in the history of Nashville has there been seen so brilliant an array of men of law or so crowded a courtroom as witnessed the calling today for trial of Duncan B. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John D. Sharp for the shooting in November last of former Senator Edward Ward Carmack. The case was called in the county courthouse before Judge William M. Hart.

ROBIN COOPER.

Who Shot and Killed Former Senator Edward W. Carmack.

The prominence of the men involved in the case has spread its ramifications into the state capitol and the United States senate. It has kept the entire state of Tennessee on edge since fiery, impetuous, unfortunate Carmack fell on the street before the pistol of young Robin Cooper, a victim to his unfortunate propensity for holding up to public scorn his political opponents.

Prominent Men In the Case.

Among the men who will testify to the circumstances that led to the tragedy will in all likelihood be Governor Patterson, of Tennessee; Senator James B. Frazier and others conspicuous in the public life of the state.

From all parts of Tennessee have come friends of the dead senator, intent on assisting the prosecution in avenging his death. A prominent figure among these men today is Guston T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, a leading lawyer, who is serving as a volunteer counsel for the prosecution under Prosecutor Jeff McCarn. On the other hand, the Coopers, father and son, have the backing of political and personal friendship among the members of the Tennessee bar, and John D. Sharp, codefendant in the case, who was formerly sheriff of Davidson county, in which Nashville is situated, commands the services of able attorneys.

It is the universal prediction here that a legal battle such as has not been seen in Tennessee in many years will follow the opening of the case in court today. The principal attorneys for the defense are J. M. Anderson, General W. H. Washington, James K. Bradford and M. H. Meeks.

The regular semi-monthly session of the borough council was held Monday evening with President Judge in the chair and the following members present: Kirk, Shuey, Wagner, Beezer, Musser, Harper and Hamilton.

John J. Bower, chief of the Fire Department, asked council to have the fire engines of both the Logan and Undine companies overhauled and repaired. They are not capable of doing the work they should do.

James Seibret explained to the council the repairs needed to the two engines.

Chief Bower also asked council to have the telephone exchanges and the Electric Light Companies not turn in an alarm for an out of town fire. It costs the town $10.00 every time there is an alarm turned in. Last year there were five out of town alarms.

The Fire and Police committee reported the fire at Walker house near Glass Works and Kaup barn in Bush Addition.

PRESIDENT HITS AT MONOPOLY.

Vetoes Grant of Private Rights to Water Power.

SCORES CORPORATION GREED.

In Message to House He Declares Complete Control of Country's Streams Is Aimed At—Matter of Supreme Importance to America Now That Other Natural Resources Are Being Rapidly Exhausted.

Washington, Jan. 15.—In returning today to the house of representatives without his approval a bill granting private rights in a navigable stream President Roosevelt says:

I return herewith without my approval house bill 17,707, to authorize William H. Standish to construct a dam across James river in Stone county, Mo., and divert a portion of its waters through a tunnel into the said river again to create electric power.

The bill gives to the grantee a valuable privilege, which by its very nature is monopolistic and does not contain the conditions essential to protect the public interest.

Monopoly Threatened.

The people of the country are threatened by a monopoly far more powerful, because in far closer touch with their domestic and industrial life, than anything known to our experience. A single generation will see the exhaustion of our natural resources of oil and gas and such a rise in the price of coal as will make the price of electrically transmitted water power a controlling factor in transportation, in manufacturing and in household lighting and heating. To give away, without conditions, this, one of the greatest of our resources, would be an act of folly.

Information collected by the bureau of corporations shows that it is probable that eleven corporations directly or indirectly control developed water power and advantageous power sites equal to more than a third of all the developed water power in the entire country. It is, in my opinion, relatively unimportant for us to know whether or not the promoters of this particular project are affiliated with any of these great corporations. The time to attach conditions and prevent monopoly is when a grant is made.

The great corporations are acting with foresight, singleness of purpose and vigor to control the water powers of the country. They are demanding legislation for unconditional grants in perpetuity of land. On the other hand, the administration proposes that authority be given to issue power permits for a term not to exceed fifty years, irrevocable except for breach of condition.

The suggestion of the senate committee on commerce in their report on the present bill that many of the streams for the damming of which a federal license is sought are in fact unnavigable is sufficiently answered in this case by the action of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce upon this very measure. A bill to declare this river unnavigable was rejected by that committee.

Government Policy Stated.

I repeat the words with which I concluded my message vetoing the Rainy river bill:

"In place of the present haphazard policy of permanently alienating valuable public property we should substitute a definite policy along the following lines:

"First.—There should be a limited or carefully guarded grant in the nature of an option or opportunity afforded within reasonable time for development of plans and for execution of the project.

"Second.—Such a grant or concession should be accompanied in the act making the grant by a provision expressly making it the duty of a designated official to annul the grant if the work is not begun or plans are not carried out in accordance with the authority granted.

"Third.—It should also be the duty of some designated official to see to it that in approving the plans the maximum development of the navigation and power is assured, or, at least, that in making the plans these may not be so developed as ultimately to interfere with the better utilization of the water or complete development of the power.

"Fourth.—There should be a license fee or charge which, though small or nominal at the outset, can in the future be adjusted so as to secure a control in the interest of the public.

"Fifth.—Provision should be made for the termination of the grant or privilege at a definite time, leaving to future generations the power or authority to renew or extend the concession in accordance with the conditions which may prevail at that time."

Further reflection suggests a sixth condition—viz:

The license should be forfeited upon proof that the licensee has joined in any conspiracy or unlawful combination in restraint of trade, as is provided for grants of coal lands in Alaska by the act of May 28, 1908.

I esteem it my duty to use every endeavor to prevent this growing monopoly, the most threatening which has ever appeared.

LOOK INTO PUBLIC'S MOUTH

Conference Beginning Tonight Lays Stress on Value of Dental Hygiene.

Boston, Jan. 18.—In an effort "to educate the public as to the necessity of keeping the mouth and teeth clean and healthy, to establish dental hygiene in schools as a part of public education, to prevent the spread of infectious diseases, to prevent pain and increase the mental and physical efficiency of school people and to establish infirmaries for the treatment of diseased conditions of the mouth and teeth," the Massachusetts state conference on oral and dental hygiene will begin a six days' session here tonight.

The leaders of the conference declare that the importance of dental hygiene has never been understood or appreciated by the public at large. Many of them mention with approval the theory of Dr. Henry Upson, a Cleveland neurologist, who announced a few days ago his discovery that there is a direct connection between defects in dentition on the one hand and criminal instincts and nervous disorders on the other.

TEETH IN HIS STOMACH

Operation Needed to Relieve Victim of Odd Accident.

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 18.—Robert Dunlap, a street car conductor, slipped while bowling and swallowed a plate containing three false teeth. They were front teeth, and they almost strangled him as they passed into his stomach. Since then they have given him no apparent trouble and he is able to get about as usual. The surgeons say his condition is serious, however and an operation probably will follow.

METHODISTS HAVE A DIAMOND JUBILEE

Celebrate Tonight Birth of Church Missions.

Washington, Jan. 18.—In the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church in this city Methodist Episcopalians will celebrate with prayer and music and addresses the diamond jubilee of the beginning of the missionary movement of the church. Seventy-five years ago the church sent out its first missionary in the person of Melville B. Cox, who landed on the west coast of Africa, in Liberia, and began the work that has now spread to all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world.

President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks will speak at tonight's celebration. Other speakers will be Earl Cranston, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Washington, and Joseph C. Hartzell, missionary bishop to Africa since 1896.

One purpose of the celebration is the starting of a fund to equip in better manner the stations of the Methodist Episcopal church in Africa. There are six of these in different parts of the continent, and the sum of $300,000 is needed to aid in the spreading of their work. Members of the church will be asked tonight to contribute that sum in commemoration of the diamond jubilee, in addition to their regular offerings.

CIGAR TRADE DULL

Lancaster Made 12,000,000 Less In December Than In November.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 18.—There is considerable uneasiness among the cigar manufacturing trade in this district. The revenue receipts for December showed a falling off of 12,000,000 cigars manufactured, compared with the month of November, and with a number of factories closed down the business for the current month will not be very large.

In this city one of the largest factories failed to resume operations after the Christmas holidays, and there is not much prospect of its early resumption. Hundreds of girls and young men employed in this factory are out of employment.

PRISONERS WANTED

Chicago Sheriff Kicks Because Jail Is Too Dirty.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—"Wanted—Prisoners for the county jail. Apply Sheriff Strassheim, Chicago."

While this advertisement did not appear in the local newspapers, it was presented in effect by Sheriff Strassheim to States Attorney Wayman.

"Since you put into effect your rule of sending prisoners sentenced to short terms to the house of correction instead of to the jail," the sheriff pleaded, "we have not prisoners enough to keep the place clean."

To Quarantine Against Rabies.

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 18.—The health officers of Lowville, Lewis county, have recommended the quarantine of the town and village as soon as possible owing to the presence of rabies. SHIPWRECKED IN BLIZZARD

Schooner Hammered to Pieces Off Long Island Shore.

THE ENTIRE CREW LOST

The Story of the Disaster Was Told By the Wreckage Washed Ashore During a Driving Snowstorm — No Trace of Crew Found, and It Is Believed They Speedily Perished.

New York, Jan. 18.—In the biting, driving snowstorm of Sunday morning off the Long Island shore another vessel, the schooner Swallow, of St. Johns, N. F., and her crew paid the toll so often demanded of those who go to the sea in ships. The story of the wreck, or so much as is known of it, was told by the sea itself, for it strewed the beach east of Fire island for several miles with bits of wreckage from the ship itself and from her cargo. On some of this flotsam appeared the name "Swallow, St. Johns, N. F.," and this told the beachmen who found the wreckage what vessel it was that had pounded itself to pieces in a few short hours in the howling gale. Of the crew, probably howling gale. Of the crew of twelve men not a trace was to be seen. But looking out at the wildly tossing seas, the thick, driving snow with its attending bitter cold, the beachmen knew their fate. No human power could have aided them.

Wreckage Washed Ashore.

It was at 2 o'clock in the morning, while a beachman from the Blue Point life saving station, a few miles east of Fire island, was toiling through the storm on the lookout for trouble at sea, that he saw some black objects bobbing about in the tumbling surf close to shore. He hauled some of them in and, finding it was new wreckage, hurried back to his station to report and to secure aid. Other beachmen soon were on the scene, hauling in the flotsam and making a study of it such as these men do. There were timbers, new lumber, frozen herring and fishing tackle, and finally they came to a signboard which told the unfortunate vessel's name.

It is supposed that the Swallow, presumably a fisherman, was bound from New Foundland to New York with a cargo of frozen herring, and that she carried a deckload of lumber to help make the trip pay. Caught in the storm, the crew probably lost their bearings and struck on one of the many sandbars a mile or so off shore near the Blue Point station. There the wind and heavy seas pounded the vessel to pieces in a short time, and the men aboard were speedily lost in the tossing, tumbling sea.

Steamer Wrecked; Most of Crew Dead.

Cuxhaven, Jan. 18. — The British steamer Fidra has been wrecked off Amrum and is a total loss. The Fidra carried a crew of eighteen, and it is believed that most of them perished while trying to make the shore, the boats being smashed by the heavy breakers.

New York, Jan. 18.—An odd case of death by gas poisoning occurred here, when Richard Johnson was removed from a hotel at 58 West Eighteenth street.

Child Burns to Death.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 18.—While her mother was in a grocery store across the street, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill, of Adams avenue, Dunmore, fell against a red-hot stove and burned to death. When the mother returned the youngster lay dead on the floor. A four-year-old brother lay sleeping in an adjoining room.

Pyles quarreled with his wife over some trivial matter, and when he struck her the son interfered.

He then took a diamond ring from her finger and ransacked the house, getting away with $400 worth of jewelry and other valuables.

PEACE OR WAR IN COAL REGION?

Will Be Decided at Convention Which Began Today.

DEMANDS OF THE WORKERS

Terms Reached Through Roosevelt Strike Commission No Longer Applicable to Miners' Conditions, They Declare—Operators Willing to Renew Present Compact, But Will Oppose Agreement Proposed By Union Leaders.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—Whether the country is to have another coal strike or not will probably be decided at the convention of the United Mine Workers of America which began here this morning. The miners will again put forward the demands that have been rejected by the operators, they will be rejected by the later, and the issue will be joined.

Demands of the Miners.

The demands of the miners read as follows:

First—That an agreement shall be negotiated between the representatives of the miners and the operators of the anthracite region and all disputes arising under the contract shall be adjusted as provided for in such agreement.

Second—We demand the complete recognition of the United Mine Workers of America as a party to negotiate a wage contract and that the United Mine Workers of America shall be recognized in our right to provide any method we may adopt for the collection of revenues for the organization.

Third—That we demand an eight hour day with no reduction of wages.

Fourth—That all coal shall be mined and paid for by the ton of 2000 pounds.

Fifth—That we demand a definite and more uniform scale of wages and prices for all classes of labor at all collieries in the anthracite region and that all employes paid less than $1.50 per day shall receive a 10 per cent advance, and all employes paid more than $1.50 and less than $2 a day shall receive a 5 per cent advance.

Sixth—That the system whereby a contract miner has more than one job or employs two or more laborers be abolished.

Seventh—That the employers be required to issue uniform pay statements designating the name of the company, the name of the employe, the colliery where employed, the amount of wages and the class of work performed.

Eighth—That the contract shall be made for the period of one year.

Agreement Ends March 31.

The officers of the miners' unions, headed by the president, Thomas L. Lewis, the successor of John Mitchell, are insistent upon these demands. The leading operators have declared their firm intention not to grant them. As the working agreement between the unions and the operators expires on March 31 some basis of agreement must be reached at the present convention if peace is to be preserved in the anthracite industry.

The operators are willing to renew the agreement, which is the one made through the mediation of the Roosevelt strike commission five years ago, but the miners' leaders declare that changed conditions make a readjustment on more liberal terms to the workers necessary.

The result of the recent election among the union mine workers will be announced at the convention.

HEAVY SENTENCE IMPOSED

For Liquor Law Violation by Judge Evans of Montour County.

In the criminal court of Montour county a man named Waite plead guilty to furnishing liquor to two young girls. The sentence of the court was that in the case of Bessie Kennedy the defendant, Samuel Waite pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $500 to the commonwealth for the use of Montour county and to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a period of ninety days. In the case of Annie Bloomer the same sentence was imposed, the latter sentence of ninety days to begin immediately at expiration of the first sentence, making in all 12 months' imprisonment. The judge took occasion to go on record as to violations of the liquor laws. He said that he been informed that the license laws were violated in Danville, but unfortunately his informant came in anonymous letters, which he could not recognize and act upon. If person claiming to be in possession of evidence will, instead of writing him anonymous letters, proceed to bring the matter properly before the court they may rely upon it that he will impose the full penalty of the law, and he made the latter clause emphatic. The judge only asked that those people who address letters to him kindly sign their names, in which event he assured them that the court will be in a position to do something and that prompt action will be taken. In conclusion Judge Evans said he would repeat what he stated at the last license court namely, that there are too many licensed places in Danville—that, instead of some thirty licensed houses, ten should be sufficient in Danville. Judge Evans said it is likely from what he has learned that there is a good deal of Sunday selling in Danville. He warned all proprietors of houses, licensed or unlicensed, that in case of any convictions for Sunday selling the maximum penalty will be imposed, nearly $5,000 fine and one years imprisonment. The court he said, is powerless to act unless some one will stand as sponsor in the matter and furnish positive information.

BITTER ATTACK ON PRESIDENT

Willett, New York Democrat, Delivers Torrent of Abuse.

THE HOUSE HALTS ATTACK

Calls Mr. Roosevelt the Pigmy Descendant of Dutch Tradespeople and a Bogus Hero—Declares He is a "Beneficiary of Assassination," Who Established a Court in the White House.

Washington, Jan. 19. — Characterizing President Roosevelt as a gargoyle and as "this pigmy descendant of Dutch tradespeople," and charging him with having "established a court in the White House which would have delighted the heart of his admired Alexander Hamilton," Representative Willett, of New York, in the house made the most bitter attack on the chief executive ever heard in that body. Mr. Willett took for his theme "The Passing of Roosevelt," and in a speech of great length dealt with numerous of the president's acts since he came into office, and scathingly denounced them.

Representative Willett is one of those attacked by Roosevelt in the second secret service message.

Before Willett had proceeded far the house, by a vote of 78 to 126, denied him the privilege of continuing the speech.

After declaring that, in the face of all sorts of conditions, Americans were possessed of a universal sense of humor, Mr. Willett said that to such a people "it must be confessed, a chief magistrate who has himself no sense of humor, moving like a horse tedder over the hay field of American activities; stirring up every drying blade of once green grass, to let it fall dryer than before; quarreling one day with the practical politician, then with the part-your-hair-in-the-middle reformers, then with the socialists, then with the great industrial corporations; wrestling in agony of spirit with Noah Webster and our glorious English tongue; taking a fall out of nature fakers, exhorting our women to avoid race suicide, cannot be an unmixed nuisance.

"He plays the tyrant, to be sure, but he is a tyrant who fears the carnival tickler. He sees things that have a bad smell, but the fresh breeze of Capitol Hill does not linger. He tries our patience, but he is always good to laugh at."

Biography of Roosevelt.

Mr. Willet gave a brief biography of Mr. Roosevelt's life, beginning with his experiences as a cowboy down to the present time, and accused him, in his early manhood, of having had preposterous notions, of having "knifed" Secretary Long, of being a "warrior alone in Cuba," of having won the governorship of New York by a mere fluke "when the false halo of San Juan Hill was above his head; the beneficiary of assassination; and last and crowning piece of luck the nominee for president when all the aggressive elements of the opposition wanted to see their own candidate defeated, the Mammoth Jocularity has got to laugh with every appearance, the gargoyle has been funny from the hour it left is native quarry.

"He is proud to insist that the family whose name he bears comes from Holland; but his ready surrender to the politicians of his own party makes it clear enough that fat burghers who put up their shutters at the first beat of the war drum must have been his progenitors. He beats the Dutch, however, as even his severest critics must confess.

"We have a king and a court now as good an imitation of a real king known to the nobility of monarchial countries as the scion of a family of trading Dutchman can concoct."

An Avalanche of Abuse.

At this juncture Mr. Willett called the roll of the so-called Ananias club, and said:

"The earth is intoxicated and reels nround our jocularity. He alone is the personification of sobriety, temperateness of statement, calmness in speech and action. The ever-moving hay-tedder hurries over the field, throwing upward the clover of politics, the timothy of zoology, the blue grass of history, and letting each blade fall a little dryer than it was before.

"Jealousy you can read in the gargoyle's distorted features.

"You look on those twisted lines and it is easy, oh, so easy, to understand the insolence toward Dewey, the one great figure of the Spanish-American war, the hero who took Manila with the worst ships a rotten bureaucracy could find for him.

"The persistent defamation of Admiral Schley, who really fought the battle of Santiago bay.

"The insults heaped upon General Miles, whose counsel was ignored in the expensive blunders of the land campaigns of Santiago."

The president, Mr. Willet declared, showed his teeth at all real heroes, "because real heroes are gall and wormwood to bogus ones."

By this time the house was in an uproar, and by a vote of 78 to 126 Mr. Willett was declared out of order.

WHERE DID CASTRO GET IT?

Monopolies and Foreign Interests the Sources of the Venezuelan President's European Bank Deposits.

Estimates of the amount of money that President Castro of Venezuela thriftily deposited in Europe prior to his flight vary all the way from $10,000,000 to $60,000,000. Where did he get it? is the natural question. Most of his wealth has come from monopolies out of which he has received the lion's share. The latest and one of the most ingenious of these monopolies was the sole right to butcher cattle. This was said to produce a net income of $2,000 a day, as the cattle raisers were forced to sell their animals for almost nothing in the absence of competition.

Foreigners of all nations, as well as the Venezuelans, have contributed to Castro's European bank deposits. After four years of exploitation the "receiver" of the New York and Bermudez company's asphalt property turned into the Venezuelan treasury only $8,000 as the net proceeds of four years' sales, amounting to about half a million dollars at the mine. All but $8,000 of this sum, the "receiver" stated, was absorbed by "expenses and improvements." The "receiver" neglected to mention the profits derived from the sale of the asphalt here. Added to the half million dollars charged to "expenses and improvements," the profits made on the sale of refined asphalt make an enormous sum, which has been divided between Castro and his American business associates.

But the cattle and asphalt grafts are only samples of the sources from which Castro has enriched himself at the expense of his own people and foreign interests in Venezuela.

INVENTOR OF TELEPOST BEGAN AS WIRE OPERATOR.

Has Now Received Highest Honors For His Achievements In Rapid Telegraphy.

"Many of the prominent men of the time began their careers in the comparatively humble calling of the telegraph operator," says Leslie's Weekly. "One of the most successful of these is Patrick Bernard Delany of New York, whose inventions in improving telegraphy have attracted worldwide attention. Born in Ireland, Mr. Delany was brought to this country when a lad, became an excellent telegraph operator at the age of sixteen and at eighteen was one of the most expert press operators in the land. Afterward he rose to high positions in various telegraph companies and later was associated with Mr. Edison in rapid telegraphy experiments and began his work as an inventor. He devised the famous 'anti-Page relay,' for which he received a considerable sum, and invented the anti-induction cable, the patents of which netted him over $100,000.

"Turning his attention to synchronous multiplex telegraphy, he perfected a system whereby six Morse circuits were obtained from a single wire and was awarded for it the highest prize at the International Inventions exhibition in London in 1885. Mr. Delahy twenty-one years ago equipped a laboratory at South Orange, N. J., and devoted his time to automatic rapid telegraphy, in which he has had great success, his apparatus transmitting a thousand words a minute over a single wire. This is regarded by experts as one of the greatest achievements in the telegraphic line."

DEMANDS FIRM POLICY TOWARD SOUTH AMERICA.

Plea For the Protection of American Interests South of the Caribbean.

"If the new 'temple of peace,' the $750,000 building for the international bureau of American republics, of which the cornerstone was laid in April, is not to be a memorial to the ruin of United States interests in a number of these republics, our government must establish a reputation for firmness when these interests are attacked," says a writer in the Pan-American.

"With the completion of the isthmian canal these interests, which are already estimated at a valuation of $1,000,000,000, will be largely increased. A policy as just as it is unyielding when necessity requires will mean the salvation of existing investments and the protection of the investor of the future.

"The fact that a definite remedy is required was impressed anew upon the United States by the unsuccessful effort on the part of the state department to secure arbitration of five long pending American claims against Venezuela.

"The merits of these particular cases is not, however, the question of immediate importance. This question is, What effect must be expected from a policy which involves the abandonment of citizens whose wrongs have been declared to the world? If redress is not to be exacted for these wrongs, what fate can other despoiled American citizens expect in Central and South America when menaced by unscrupulous governments?

"The definite remedy demanded involves no more than the assertion of a policy of insisting upon prompt and thorough redress of injuries. It would not be difficult for the United States to establish such a reputation for protecting the interests of its citizens in South America that these interests would rarely be attacked. All the precedents go to show, especially in the case of Venezuela, that the most impudent, contumacious and belligerent of South American potentates will become tractable upon the mere threat of force."

A Reasonable Excuse.

"Bridget," said Mrs. Subbubs sternly, "breakfast is half an hour late again."

"Yis, mim," returned Bridget meekly.

"What excuse have you to offer? You know I told you that Mr. Subbubs must catch that early train, and punctuality at breakfast is absolutely necessary," said the lady.

"Sure an' Oi overshlep' mesilf," said Bridget.

"That is no excuse," said the mistress. "I gave you an alarm clock only yesterday."

"Oi know that, mim."

"Did you wind it up?"

"Oi did."

"And didn't it go off?"

"Sure an' it did that. It made a tarrible n'ise."

"Then why didn't you get up?"

"Sure, mim," responded Bridget tearfully, "it was that t'ing that's made all the throuble. Oi niver shlep' a wink all night waitin' for it to go off, an' whin it did Oi was that toired Oi couldn't move."—Harper's Weekly.

To Cure Wrinkles.

"Look at a paralytic if you think wrinkles incurable," said a beauty doctor. "On the side he is paralyzed all his wrinkles disappear. Though he be sixty or seventy, his profile on that side is the profile of a youth. So the paralytic shows us how to cure our wrinkles—namely, by keeping our facial muscles still. If we keep our faces in perfect repose, never laughing when the comedian sings his best song, never weeping when wife or sweetheart dies, we will have no wrinkles whatever. The skin wouldn't wrinkle if it were not exposed. The skin of the body is much disturbed by action of the muscles underneath—as at the knee, for instance—yet this unexposed skin never wrinkles. Not being exposed to the bad influence of sun and wind, it has not lost the oil and the elasticity of childhood. And that's where I come in with my creams and unguents and massages."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Taming Patti.

Patti was to sing on a certain date at Bucharest, but at the last moment she declined to leave Vienna. It was too cold; snow everywhere; she would not risk catching her death of cold. M. Schurmann, the impresario, was in despair until a brilliant inspiration came to him. Quickly he telegraphed to the advance agent in the Roumanian capital: "At whatever cost Patti must receive an ovation at Bucharest station from the Italian aristocracy Send me by return the following wire: 'The members of the Italian and Roumanian nobility are preparing to give Mme. Patti a magnificent reception. The ministry will be represented. Processions, torches and bands. Telegraph the hour of arrival.'" The advance agent carried out this instruction, and when the telegram dictated to him over the wires arrived in Vienna it was handed to Patti, with the desired effect. "How charming!" she murmured. "What time do we start?"

His Wonderful Invention.

Australia, as is well known, is infested with rabbits, a most destructive and multitudinous pest. Not long ago a man invented the following plan:

You go out into the field from which the rabbits are to be removed. You saw down a tree, and on the slant of the stump you paint a black spot. Then you keep very quiet, so that the rabbits will come back from their burrows and feed as usual. When a large enough number has collected you clap your hands sharply. The effect will be electric. The rabbits will jump in haste for their burrows. At least one is sure to mistake the black spot for his hole and make for it. Invariably he will dash his brains out. This process, repeated often enough, is warranted to exterminate the rabbit forever.

The reports do not say whether there are any rabbits left in Australia.

Twin Place.

One day an old gentleman who found the Java village at the World's fair very absorbing at length confided in a young man standing near. "It's powerful nice to watch," he said, "but I may say I should be better on't if I was a trifle better posted. My jography's a leetle rusty, and it's truth and fact that I don't jestly know where Java is. Now, where is it?"

"Oh," said the young man, with the assured quiet of one who knows, "just a little way from Mocha!"—Argonaut.

Making It Easier.

Little Jean's dolly had met with an accident, and her mother had procured a new head for it. The removal of the old head proved to be a rather difficult task, which Jean watched with great interest.

"I'm afraid, Jean, I can't get this old head off," said the mother.

Jean's face glowed with the light of an inspiration as she said:

"Never mind, mamma; just take the body off."

THE DREAM OF UTOPIA.

In the best of all worlds and with human nature finally arrived at perfection the Utopia dreamed of by Sir Thomas More and advocated by many of his disciples will become a realty. But until the hour dawns that sees human nature cleaned of its imperfections and relieved of its vices, every effort in the direction indicated must result in flat failure. One may sympathize with the natural longing, for an ideal state where poverty shall be unknown, where every man shall be on an equality with his fellows and where the ghastly phases of modern life shall have no place. But until the future brings a higher order of human nature than is now manifest on every side we will look in vain for the materialization of the shining vision that has haunted every age and that may be the promise of the distant future's boon to the race:

Many efforts have been made by good men and women to realize a little Utopia of their own. Not one has succeeded. A notable instance was that of the Brook Farm community in the first half of the last century, when several of the literary people of Boston and vicinity undertook to carry into practical effect their theories of life. It proved a dismal failure almost from the start When the cultured and the gentle find themselves compelled to surrender, in profound disgust with the results of their experiment one need not look for more substantial achievements from similar efforts upon the part of the crowd

There is much unconsidered talk concerning the crime and the misfortune of the world. Let it be conceded that many of those who spend their childhood and youth in public institutions or who grow up in evil homes are doomed by their environment. Let it be admitted that the state owes a vital duty to these wretched ones which it has thus far ignored. The fact remains that many who will not work and who are at enmity with law and industry were brought up in excellent homes, have good mothers and were surrounded in their childhood by elevating influences. Most of us know some such. They had excellent chances but availed themselves of none. They cannot be depended upon to do anything useful either for themselves or for their neighbors. Every considerable community contains enough of such individuals to convert Utopia into a very Saharan desert. In such a state as some of our good friends advocate and honestly believe attainable these moral derelicts would still be loafers and nothing else. They would not do their share of the work, no matter how light, and they would soon arouse the indignation of the industrious members of the community. Not until we can rid the world of the willing idlers will it be worth while considering the proposed new Utopia.

PRESIDENT-ELECT SUCCESSION.

A grave contingency for which the founders of the government failed to provide when adopting the Constitution was the ever possible death of the president-elect. The dreaded emergency, luckily, has never presented itself, no president-elect having died in the interim preceding his inauguration.

Some years before his death Senator Hoar framed an amendment to the Constitution providing for this crisis, and it was approved by the senate, but it never became a law because of the inaction of the house Representative James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh has introduced a duplicate of the Hoar resolution in the house. It provides that the vice president take the presidency on March 4, should the person entitled to assume it have been removed by death, and if there also is no vice president, then congress should provide by law for the case and designate the person to act until a president is elected. The sanction of the state, of course, is necessary before the Constitution can be thus amended

The plan appears feasible and the legal and orderly succession is provided for as doubtless the fathers themselves would have arranged it had the matter occurred to them. Life is uncertain and the mightiest of earth have no surer lease on it than the humblest. The office of president is too important to leave to the caprice of fate for even so brief a period. It would seem that Senator Hoar's suggestion, as revitalized by Mr. Burke, might wisely be incorporated in our basic law.

ANOTHER BRYAN DEFEATED.

There is reason to believe that Mr. Bryan was not pleased when he heard that the democratic legislators of Indiana had declined to send John W. Kern to the United States senate. Mr. Bryan suggested that Mr. Kern be given the senatorship as a sort of consolation prize, and Mr. Kern seconded the motion. For a time it looked as though a majority of the democratic caucus might respond favorably, and Mr. Kern seems to have been confident of his ultimate success when the balloting began. Nevertheless, the caucus nominated former Congressman Shively, of South Bend, and he will be elected unless the unexpected happens. This is a distinct blow at the prestige of Mr. Bryan in the democratic state of Indiana.

Mr. Shively, the successful aspirant, was a member of four congresses. His friends declare that his nomination was in accordance with the logic of events. They say that he spoke in fifty-two counties of the state last year on behalf of the democratic national ticket and that everywhere he was introduced as the next senator from Indiana. They say that Mr Kern had his chance when he was nominated for vice president. If Bryan and Kern had been successful and the republicans had elected a majority of the legislature Kern would have won and Shively would have lost. As it is Kern lost and since the legislature is democratic they claimed that Shively won and was entitled to the honors. The majority of the democrats appear to have accepted that theory.

Mr. Kern takes his defeat rather unphilosophically. He evidently believed the flatterers who during the recent national campaign and later styled him Indiana's "favorite son." He says he really did want to be senator and is so sadly disappointed over the frustration of his ambition that he will never again aspire to office. Perhaps that course would be wise. None of us is as popular as he imagines himself to be and as the years multiply and the friends of our youth and manhood disappear one by one our influence diminishes, and our power too. until at last there comes a moment when we realize, as Mr. Kern realizes now, that our achievements have become a matter of history. That has been the experience of all our predecessors who lived to the age that Mr. Kern has reached, and the future is not likely to provide any thing different for the successive generations.

If Mr. Kern will speedily get over his disappointment and put ambition behind him he may be blessed with a serene and cheerful age. In the bosom of his family he may forget the allurements of ambition and even come to mildly regret that he ever permitted Mr. Bryan to tempt him into a revival of his political ambitions.

THE SCHOOL POPULATION.

Broadly speaking, the educational systems and institutions of the United States, public and private, enrolled in 1906-07 in the neighborhood of 19,000,000 pupils of all grades and classes. About 20 per cent. of the total population attended the common schools for a longer or a shorter period. This percentage has been pretty nearly stationary for thirty years. In the meantime, however, the average length of the common school years had advanced from 130 days to a little over 150 days, says the report of the Commissioner of Education, and the percentage of those enrolled who were on the average in actual attendance each day of this longer school year had advanced from 62 per cent. to 70 per cent.

While the proportion of the population who went to school at all had not increased, the remarkable increase in those attending high schools and other schools of middle grade still continued reaching in the year 1906-07 about 1.13 per cent. of the whole population. In round numbers one out of every ninety of our people was enrolled in a secondary school, and one out of every 300 in a college or other institution of higher education. Inasmuch as an approach of these high proportions has been going on for many years, and the length of time any one pupil is in a school of any grade is only a fraction of the average length of a human life, it is clear that the proportion of our population of one of the grades indicated was much higher than would appear from the number enrolled for the year under consideration.

THE job of Chief Teddy Curber is not much sought after.

Unanimously Elected.

The following unique proposal was made by a promising young politician for the hand of his sweetheart:

MY DEAR MANDY—I hereby announce myself as a candidate for your heart and hand, and shall use all fair and honorable means to secure the nomination. I know there are many candidates in the field and I hesitate in entering the race, but now I am in to stay. My views on love and matrimony have been expressed in your hearing and need not be repeated here. You know I favor the gold standard of love—and maintenance of that standard after marriage. If you decide to confer the honor I ask, please fix a date for a caucus with your mother. I have no objection to her acting as temporary chairman of the permanent organization. Should the result of the caucus prove satisfactory, we can hold the primaries and select the date and place of the convention. I never believe in long campaigns, so if you decide to honor me I will ask you to name the convention day as soon as possible.

Devotedly Yours.

The young lady's telegram answered it thus: "Caucus unnecessary. Nomination unanimous. Come at once and fix date for ratification."—MANDY.

Maccabees Growing.

The Knights of the Maccabees meet Wednesday night in their nice new hall which they occupy alone now, the P. O. S. of A. camp having quit. The Maccabees have been growing the last few months again the membership having fallen off a little during the hard times last spring and summer by some of the members moving away and others dropping out from lack of work some of those have come back and many new members have been taken in lately. The new officers are working with a vim and putting on the full degrees in a very creditable form and the attendance is becoming much better at the meetings in consequence of it.

Considerable relief has been paid out to sick and disabled members this winter which comes in very good to those who happen to be unfortunate in that respect. Two degrees will be put on in full form at this meeting.

The Same Old Story

On Saturday the same old story of some ones carelessness resulting in serious injury to another occurred. The little eight year old son of James Torsell who lives near the old glass works while playing about the barn, picked up what proved to be a dynamite cap. Boy like the little fellow picked it up and putting it in his mouth lighted it. The cap exploded, blowing off one finger on his left hand, knocking out three teeth and burning his mouth terribly. People should be careful how they leave such dangerous things around.

Babies and Mothers Who Take Pe-ru-na.

Catarrh and Stomach Trouble.

Mr. W. G. Burress, 247 West 7th St., Superior, Wis., writes:

"After a lapse of one year I take great pleasure in adding my endorsement to the many thousand you have, for bringing a complete cure to our little daughter Helen, who had been sick all her life with catarrh and stomach trouble."

Cough For Four Months.

Mrs. C. E. Long, the mother of little Mina Long, writes from Atwood, Colorado, as follows:

"When I wrote you for advice my little three-year-old girl had a cough that had been troubling her for four months. She took cold easily, and would wheeze and have spells of coughing that would sometimes last for a half hour. We doctored all winter without relief.

"Now we can never thank you enough for the change you have made in our little one's health."

Catarrh of Worst Kind.

Mrs. Helena Hoeman, 2930 Orkny St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "My daughter is permanently cured of catarrh. She had catarrh of the worst kind for two years. A friend advised me to try Peruna. After she had taken two bottles she felt better."

Says Pe-ru-na Saved Her Life.

Mrs. Clara Litterst, Seafield, Ind., writes:

"I am confident that Peruna saved my life. Last fall I took a severe cold, which settled all over me, and I had a terrible misery in my side. I doctored with the best physician here, but instead of getting better I became worse.

"I thought then that I would try Peruna, but I really did not think when I began to take it that it could cure me.

"In less than a week I began to improve and kept on so until I was able to do my work.

"I wish I might tell all suffering humanity what Peruna did for me. I can do all my housework, and we have seven in the family.

"I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world, and I will recommend it to all my friends. The advice you gave me was all that was necessary, and if I should need further advice I will write you."

Boy Restored to Health.

Mrs. E. T. Chomer, 5249 Emerald Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I really don't know how to explain to you the benefit your Peruna has done our boy. We have used three bottles so far, and will soon get another. I must tell you all the good it has done us.

"Our boy is three years old, and was taken ill. He was going into a sort of decline. He had a cough that sounded like an old man's, lost his appetite, was restless in his sleep.

"We called in our family doctor and he prescribed for him, but he remained just the same. I suggested that we give him Peruna.

"From the first day we gave him Peruna he began improving. That was a month ago. He can go out now and there is no danger of his taking cold, for we give him a dose of Peruna before he goes out and when he comes in. I am a firm believer in Peruna."

Peruna is a splendid remedy for colds. There is probably not a hamlet in the United States where it has not been used for colds with the greatest of satisfaction.

Peruna is also a remedy for general catarrhal complaints. Catarrh of the nose. Catarrh of the head. Catarrh of the throat. Bronchial tubes. Lungs and other internal organs.

To Make His Home in Harrisburg

Bishop Darlington has decided to give up his Williamsport residence and will hereafter make his home in Harrisburg the entire year. Since the creation of the Harrisburg diocese the bishop has been making his home in Williamsport during the summer months, occupying a residence on East Third street, which had been purchased and fitted up especially for his use. One of the improvements made soon after the purchase was the fitting up of a room for a chapel in which services would be held. The house is now offered for sale. It is understood that the reason for the discontinuance of the Williamsport residence of the bishop is due to the expense connected with maintaining two homes.

The Basket Ball Game.

The Bellefonte Academy basket ball team opened their season in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night at a very fast pace, defeating the Juniata College "preps" team by the large score 85—14, and thereby giving promise of becoming the best basket ball five the Academy ever had. Captain McCandless, of Butler and Wright of Butler, scored seventeen and nine goals, respectively, while Shields, Dillon and Meyers scored three each. McCandless is fully as good a player as Laderer was last year and that is saying a great deal. Next Friday night Dickinson Seminary will play here and then you will see a great battle as the Williamsport players are very strong.

The line up:

In addition to the regular astronomical matter usually furnished in almanacs, the articles on astrology are very attractive to most people. The mental characteristics of each sign are given with faithful accuracy. A list of lucky and unlucky days will be furnished to those who have our almanacs, free of charge. HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A simple remedy for neuralgia is to apply grated horseradish, prepared the same as for table use, to the temple when the head or face is affected and to the wrist when the pain is in the arm or shoulder.

Avoid leaning on the elbows or they will become rough and ugly and spoil the contour of the arm. Bathe them as carefully as the hands.

Long, straggling hairs which give an appearance of roughness to the eyebrows may be temporarily removed with tweezers or permanently by electrolysis.

There is a beauty specialist who assures her patients that there is nothing to compare with the pillow nap, as she calls it, for producing beauty. The sleeping out of doors fad in "down to zero" days and other "dares" to colds which call forth remonstrances from old fashioned persons will be thrown into the shade, the specialist says, by this new beauty sleep. She places three little rose leaf pillows, which she calls ear pillows, under a patient's head. Heaped on the couch "in such a way as to rest the nerves" are other pillows filled with various compounds. There are three large square pillows filled with pine needles loosely packed and several of clover top and lavender.

Women who are compelled to do much housework and whose fingers are constantly in water should try the plan of washing their hands in the ordinary way with soap and water and while wet of rubbing dry salt well over the cuticle. This will remove all grime and stains and will keep the hands smooth and white. A slice of lemon is invaluable for preserving the fine texture of the skin and should be rubbed over the hands while washing.

One woman whose skin is the admiration of all washes her face with lukewarm water, the best toilet soap and a piece of soft old flannel each night upon retiring and rubs it very gently upward with an old linen towel. Then she sips a cupful of hot water. In the morning she dashes cold water over her face and neck and pats it dry with a Turkish towel and sips a cupful of hot water again. She has never used a cosmetic and attributes the beauty of her skin to the generous use of water, both internally and externally.

The Lame Man Healed—Acts iii:1-26

Golden Text.—His name, through faith in his name, hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know. Acts iii:16.

Verse 1—Are two devout persons better than one for worship?

Is it any help in the Christian life, for each Christian to have a very intimate spiritual friend?

Verse 2.—Was it any fault of this man that he was lame?

Did God think any the less of him for being lame?

Is any sickness or bodily infirmity necessarily sinful?

What proportion of our ailments are a result either of our sin, or our culpable ignorance? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

To what class of persons do the poor generally go for help?

Verse 3.—Which is the better, to beg or to starve?

Was this a legitimate way for this man to make his living?

Should the state maintain all persons who are born with infirmities, which make it impossible for them to maintain themselves?

Are our laws righteous which forbid begging?

Verse 4.—If you want to impart spiritual benefit, can you do it more effectually by looking the person straight in the eyes?

Verse 5.—Does effectual teaching or helping others, depend as much upon the person taught, or needing help, as upon the teacher or helper?

Verse 6.—Was it an advantage, or a disadvantage, that Peter and John had no money to give?

Was it an advantage or a disadvantage to the lame man that Peter and John had no money?

Would a church do better work if it did not give money to the poor, but instead gave them the things they needed most?

Need the lack of money, or ability, ever prevent any man, from doing the work in life which God has appointed him to do?

If we invoke the name of Jesus, in the work to which we are appointed, what effect will it have upon the accomplishment of our work?

Verse 7.—By what power was this lame man healed?

What reason is there for the belief, that the power of God generally works in conjunction with human effort?

Verse 8.—Would it be wise, or not, if we made more outward demonstration, in returning God thanks for the wonders of his love?

Is there any merit in outward enthusiasm if we have inward loyalty to God?

Verse 9.—If we were to outwardly demonstrate more, would the work of God go on faster?

Verses 10-11.—What is the greatest influence in advancing Christ's Kingdom?

Verse 12.—Is it a sign of faith, or of unbelief, when we "marvel" at the fulfillment of any of God's promises?

Verses 13-16,—Which was the guiltier, Pilate or the chief of the Jews, for the murder of Jesus?

Verse 17.—If a man does a wrong thing through ignorance, when he could have known better, is he as guilty as if he knew better?

Verse 18-26.—What is our only reasonable hope of salvation?

Lesson for Sunday, Jan. 31st. 1909. The Trial of Peter and John. Acts iv:1-31.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition

Not a secret or "patent medicine" because ingredients are printed on the label contains no alcohol, is purely vegetable.

A Jewelers Experience

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can not attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed. Sold by C. M. Parrish.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery" was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical experts, teachers and writers on Materia Medica who recommend them as the very best remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompained with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

FIGHT TO FINISH FOR OPEN SHOP

Action Taken By Hat Manufacturers on Strike.

SAY UNION BROKE AGREEMENT

Manufacturers' President Declares the Union Label Is of No Advantage and Is Not Wanted — Didiculed Report That Union Has $400,000 With Which to Make Fight.

New York, Jan. 18.—The open shop and a fight to the finish was the action decided upon by the Hat Manufacturers' association at a meeting held here to discuss the situation growing out of the strike of hatters which began on Friday. An effect of the strike, according to the manufacturers, will be a rise in the price of hats, as the trouble occurred in the busy season.

President Samuel Mundheim, of the Hat Manufacturers' association, made the announcement after the meeting that the manufacturers had declared for the open shop and were prepared to fight to a finish. He said the number of strikers was between 15,000 and 20,000, but that there were many nonunion hatters out of employment, and that eventually the places of the strikers would be filled.

"The manufacturers feel that they have not been treated fairly," he said. "The strikers should have given us notice,' according to their agreement, and the action should have been taken by a vote of the union."

Mr. Mundheim, in discussing the discontinuance of the union label by the manufacturers, which precipitated the strike, said:

"The label is of no advantage to the manufacturers, and, indeed, is not wanted. Very few people who buy hats notice whether the label is in it or not."

The manufacturers' president ridiculed the report that the union had $400,000 with which to make the fight. He said, however, that the Hatters' union was one of the strongest labor organizations in the country.

Manufacturers Issue Statement.

A statement was issued by the manufacturers containing parts of the working agreement entered into with the union. This was done, the statement contended, in order to set at rest any misunderstanding regarding the attitude of the Hat Manufacturers' association. The agreement in effect was that there should be no stoppage of work until a final decision of arbitrators had been rendered and that the union label should not be removed until due notice is given the manufacturers.

"The United Hatters of North America," the statement concludes, "flagrantly violated the foregoing article by withdrawing the men and refusing the use of the union label to the Geyer Hat company, one of our members, without notice. Upon their refusal to restore the label and the men to the Geyer Hat company the Hat Manufacturers' association, by a unanimous vote, directed all their members to discontinue the use of the union label in all their factories. The order was not intended to change any other existing condition or agreement with scale of wages between the manufacturers and their employes."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Health Talks

No man is stronger than his stomach. Make your stomach strong and you thereby fortify your system against the attacks of a long list of diseases which originate in the stomach and must be reached, if at all through the stomach. Thus torpid, or lazy liver, biliousness, dyspepsia, impure blood and various skin affections originate in weak stomach and consequent poor nutrition. The same is true of certain bronchial, throat and lung affections.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Strengthens the stomach, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood making it rich, red and vitalizing and thereby curing the above and kindred affections.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insist that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.

A Bank on Two Legs.

"For more than thirty years the most popular woodsman's bank in Maine was a bank on two legs," says Major Holmes Day, author of "King Spruce." "Until he was over seventy years old Uncle Nate Swan was conductor on the Bangor and Piscataquis railroad, running between the city and Moosehead lake. With him rode the woods and driving crews. When they forgot themselves and made a racket on his train he used to cuff them into submission, and no man ever raised his hand against Uncle Nate. When the men came out of the woods with their pay most of them realized from bitter experience that the city folks would get all their money away from them in a few days. As soon as they would get aboard the train they would begin to strip ten dollar bills off their rolls and hand the money to Uncle Nate to 'sink' for them, banking it on call. They never forgot, nor did he, and in all the years there was never a dispute between Conductor Swan and any of his depositors. When they came back on his train they were sure of enough money for their fare and their tobacco at the lake outfitting store. They wouldn't have known very well what to do with more."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This pain yet; vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to get its universal preference. Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves — re-establish them as needed, with

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

HUGE LAND FRAUDS CHARGED

U. S. Robbed of $114,735,273 Worth Since 1905.

32,000 CASES ARE PENDING

Secretary Garfield Asks $500,000 to Push Investigations—Thousands of Acres Have Been Recovered Through Suits, and 1021 Additional Cases Are Set For Trial and Hearing.

Washington, Jan. 19.—That the extent of public land frauds in the west has been but partially discovered by the United States government is the opinion expressed by Secretary Garfield in a communication to Senator Hale and Representative Tawney.

The serious allegation is made that lands valued at $114,735,273, in states principally west of the Mississippi, have been fraudulently acquired within the last two years by corporations and individuals, and action will be taken to recover them.

Further, H. H. Schwartz, chief of the field service, reports that there are 32,000 distinct cases of land frauds demanding investigation.

This statement is founded on the partial investigation made by special agents of the department of the interior. After setting forth some of the work that has been accomplished, Secretary Garfield asks for $500,000 for the year 1909 to investigate reported cases of land fraud.

Last year's appropriation was $500,000, and is considered insufficient to carry on the work. It is the opinion of many that a larger sum would have saved the government many millions of dollars in lands.

Among the latest cases are those against the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific railroads. These involve four suits to recover mineral lands valued at $40,000,000.

Another suit pending is against the Union Pacific to recover coal lands in Wyoming valued at $1,550,000. All of these roads belong to the Harriman system.

In addition these are 500 claims to coal lands valued at $16,000,000 that are viewed with suspicion by the general land office, besides title to $200,000 worth of timber lands.

There are set for trial and hearing before local land offices a total of 1021 cases.

The appropriation for the work from July 1, 1907, to 1908, was $500,000. From this the results were 10,933 acres of patented land recovered and valued at $824,555.35; 618,240 acres in unpatented lands recovered, valued at $3,547,100, a collection of $136,694 from timber trespassers, $8547 collected in other fines, making a total of more than $4,000,000 collected, with an expenditure of less than $500,000.

MAY NOT TRY CAPT. HAINS

Acquittal of Brother Discourages the Prosecution.

VERDICT A POPULAR ONE

When Jury Made Known Its Verdict Freeing T. Jenkins Hains For Complicity In the Killing of William E. Annis, a Great Shout Went Up In Courtroom—Mother Nearly Fainted For Joy.

Flushing, N. Y., Jan. 16.—After reviewing the evidence for twenty-two hours and taking fifteen ballots before all were agreed, the jury in the trial of Thornton Jenkins Hains found the prisoner not guilty as a principal with his brother, Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., in the killing of William E. Annis. For the second time in his life Thornton Hains has been found not guilty of the charge of murder, he having been acquitted of murder in shooting a companion named Edward A. Hannigan in an open boat in Hampton Roads seventeen years ago.

Thornton Hains had an affecting greeting with Captain Hains in the Long Island jail, where he hurried in a motor car after the verdict to bring his brother the news. Old General Hains and his wife, who had been anxiously waiting to learn the verdict in the Hotel Astor, in Manhattan, heard the news from their son Thornton, who telephoned his parents as soon as he left the courtroom. Mrs. Hains nearly fainted from joy at the news.

After spending an hour with Captain Hains in the jail Thornton Hains went to the Hotel Astor, where he remains with his father and mother.

Rarely in any court of law has such a demonstration been witnessed as that which occurred when the jury made known its verdict, which came like a thunderbolt. The packed room of spectators rose as one man and cheered and applauded with such vigor that the gavel falls of Justice Crane on his desk could not be heard.

Officials of the district attorney's office in Queens county are quoted as saying that the verdict in the case probably means that Captain Hains will never be brought to trial and that he will be surrendered into the care of his family or the federal government.

"Under this verdict it is perfectly safe for any person who is ingenious enough to frame up a defense to go out and kill. Private vengeance seems to have taken precedence over the people's law," was the only comment that Prosecutor Darrin had to make on the jury's return.

FOUND CLUE TO KEENER'S VICTIM

Murdered Man May Have Been Traveling Evangelist.

York, Pa., Jan. 16.—Clues reached the police indicating that the man Harry Keener murdered last July was a traveling evangelist known as "Prohibition" Heilman.

Heilman used to go about the country talking on prohibition. He has been missing since last May.

The description of the man killed on the Keener place as given by Lorena Tawser tallies minutely with a description of Heilman by his friends. Heilman had been in the habit of roaming about the country on foot and seeking lodgings at farmhouses.

Ever since Lorena Tawser first told of the murder District Attorney Ammon and Chief of Detectives Charles White have been trying to fix the victim's identity.

Keener says he doesn't know and Lorena Tawser says the same thing. At any rate the investigators are endeavoring to find some traces around the Keener house of letters, papers or other articles taken from the victim of Keener's revolver, which may throw some light upon his identity.

—The parties who had in mind the building of a new Opera House here seem to have given up the project being scared off on account of the high taxes and which seem to be getting higher and the present council will not be able to reduce them any, a good many of our citizens seem to think they have a white elephant to monkey with in the new power plant they are working on at Milesburg it is to be hoped it will not be so.

—The prosperity wave seems to be slowly approaching which is much better than coming with a jump. Jobbers everywhere are increasing their orders while at this time last year advance orders were being cancelled or held up. The retail trade does not feel the effect as yet but it will by April or May. A falling off in business that the town merchant experienced in the neighborhood of from 10 to 20 percent for the last few months was based on the great increase and boom of 1907 and will be found to be an increase if taken on the average of the past five years. Of course there are exceptions to all the rules but even those will be found to be local.

—Every newspaper wants to publish the news. The better the paper the more prosperous it will be. Local news items are especially hard to run down. How many times have you reader, been approached for an item of news, and replied that you know nothing of interest, when at the same time your family were away on a visit or some relatives or friends out of town were visiting at your home. Of course, you didn't mean to deceive the scribe, yet when you received your paper you wondered why your family or friends were not mentioned. A good way to avoid all this is to kindly inform us of the fact or drop a line in the postoffice to the Republican. If you are making any improvements or going away on a visit don't forget to tell us for "every little bit added to what we got makes just a little bit more."

—A Bellefonte business man and property owner the other day was travelling on the cars and got into conversation with a well known travelling man who is at the same time a keen far sighted business man said "Why do you know you have one of the best business towns in the state, known as one of the most substantial and conservative always to be depended on and constantly growing in a slow but sure fashion with never any great ups or downs but a sure thing, and is rated as such among the better posted travelling men. Neighboring towns have great booms every thing like a county fair for a year or too then down comes the burnt out rocket with a smash and things are worse than ever. Give me the good old steady going reliable every time, you don't get rich so quick for a year but you have twice as much in the end." Business here is all right it all depends on the people not the town, look around you and the lives one are easily seen and not only that but doing well so don't blame the town but some of the people, who don't seem to do anything in the hustle line but grumble.

Reunion and Anniversary.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 9th, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Glossner, formerly of Nittany Valley, celebrated the china anniversary of their marriage at their beautiful home, No. 1021 Franklin Avenue, Wilkinsburg.

The anniversary was in a part a reunion of Centre county people and their friends, now residing in Pittsburg and vicinity. The minister who married Mr and Mrs. Glossner, the Rev. Dr. Lewis Robb formerly of Howard, who has been pastor of the German Reformed church, in Wilkinsburg for four years, was present and gave inspiration to the occasion.

Mr Glossner was for a number of years one of Centre county's most prosperous farmers. He is now a successful business man of Pittsburg, being one of the firm of the Wilkinsburg Stair Co., of which he is Sec-Treas. of the same.

Takes His Daughter From Young Husband.

Determined to separate his daughter, Elsie, from her husband, and have the marriage annulled, Harry Landmesser, of Wilkes-Barre, Friday had a warrant issued, charging her with being incorrigible, with State Trooper Carroll and a constable went to Plainsville and took the girl forcibly from the home of her husband, Frank Roure.

The young woman ran away with Roure some time ago, and they were married in New Jersey, but when they got back Landmesser forced his daughter to return home. A short time ago, however, she managed to elude her parents, and again joined her husband, and this led to her arrest. Alderman Brown turned her over to custody of her father.

The father asserts that as the two did not comply with the New Jersey marriage laws he can have the marriage annulled.

The Marriage of the Future.

The industrial conditions of the modern home are such as to delay and often prevent marriage Since "the home" is supposed to arise only from marriage, it looks as though the situations were frankly suicidal. So far, not seeing these things, we have merely followed our world old habit of blaming the woman. She used to be content with these conditions, we say; she ought to be now. Back to nature! The woman refuses to go back, the home refuses to go forward, and marriage waits. The initial condition of ownership, even without servitude reacts unfavorably upon the kind of marriage most desired. A woman slave is not a wife. The more absolutely a woman is her own mistress, in accepting her husband and her life with him, the higher is the grade of love and companionship open to them. Again, the economic dependence of the woman militates against a true marriage, in that the element of the economic profit degrades and commercializes love and so injures the family. The higher marriage toward which we are tending requires a full-grown woman, no one's property or servant, self-supporting, and proudly independent. Such marriage will find expression in a very different home.

Daughter at Station Saw Father's Body.

A pathetic incident in connection with the accident in which Robert B. Swartout the Fall Brook conductor was killed is told by the Corning Leader as follows:

"The body was picked up by the passenger train and later transferred to passenger No. 10, which train brought the remains to Stockedale Junction, where they were again transferred and taken to his home in Wellsboro, Pa. When his body was taken off at Stokesdale his daughter, Miss Alice, who teaches school near there, was at the station on her way home, and she did not know until after he had been taken from the train that the dead body was that of her father. On learning of the sad news she fainted away.

"Swartout had not been home for sometime as his run was from Corning and it was not convenient for him to go to Wellsboro very often. He was, however, planning to visit his family in the near future. His sudden death just on the point of going home after an extended absence makes the affair doubly sad."

Prof. J. E. Wagner Promoted.

At a meeting of the Bellefonte School Board held on Friday evening Prof. Jonas E. Wagner was elected Supervising Principal of the schools of Bellefonte to succeed John D. Meyer, who resigned to accept a position in Altoona. He is elected to fill out the unexpired term of Prof. Meyer but in all probability will be given the full term. Prof. Wagner has been principal of the High School for some time and has been quite successful in his work. His election to the Supervising Principalship is a well deserved promotion and we feel that that the Bellefonte Schools will continue to advance under his leadership.
